Parish Council tax is currently uncapped and it has been suggested that a cap should be put upon Parish Council's tax increases. Cllr Coulter suggested that we should support the general principle that large council tax increases should have demonstrable community support. However, he also felt that referendums are not the most suitable form of confirming community support for the expenditure of local councils. They are expensive - costing typically in the region of £1 - £2 per elector - so therefore in many cases the referendum costs will be greater than the proposed council tax increase. Cllr Coulter proposed that, if present mechanisms for ensuring community support for new expenditure proposals are considered insufficient to mitigate against excessive council tax increases, The Parish Council should support a much simpler and cheaper alternative to referendums which already exists. Uniquely in local government, local councils are obliged to hold an annual parish meeting of local electors between 1st march and 30th June each year and also have the power to call extra parish meetings when required. In certain other States of the United States an affirmative resolution at the annual town meeting of electors is required for proposed budget increases and the same system could apply in England where proposals for excessive council tax increases	Action – Clerk to obtain 2 more quotes. Action – Clerk to write to NALC. could be democratically debated in open public forum at an Annual Parish Meeting. This would place no additional financial burden upon the local Parish Councils.

Finally Cllr Coulter proposed that if local councils were required to demonstrate community support for large council tax increases, we should support the suggestion that there should be a mechanism for excluding the smallest councils and also those increases which may appear large in percentage terms but which are small in cash terms. He suggested that Council should support the concept of the “double lock” to deal with this issue which is based on criteria relating to the size of the council and the level of the increase.

The Parish Council agreed with Cllr Coulters recommendations and resolved to support the above points.

New Applications

10/06627/FUL Lower Court Farm, Marlow Road - Change of use of existing hard standing for the overnight parking of 5 coaches (retrospective)

Objection – The site can clearly be seen from the Marlow Road and Chalky Field and houses look directly onto the site. The land is agricultural and not appropriate for the proposed commercial use. It appears that there is also vehicle maintenance being carried out on site. The site is being run as a business and not purely for overnight parking as vehicles are leaving and retuning at different points in the day. Where the site is based, just off of the Marlow Road, the coaches have to pull out of the site just before a bend in the road. The Parish Council believes that with increased vehicle movement from this site, the speed of passing traffic and the restrictions on visibility, there is an increased danger that an accident could happen on this fast stretch of road..
